

EPOCH: auditing the predictive boundary of declared incumbent models

One method, internally routed: mismatch is not by itself evidence of new physics or a unique successor law.

a Boundary relative to declared models and error process

c Advancing the clock: a paired, falsifiable test

Required evidence: the score falls for the same data when, and only when, the knowledge horizon is updated.

b A frozen router selects the appropriate internal evidence component

